If You're Keen on Going Green—Amtrak Leads the Way

Concern about their carbon footprint has led travelers to seek more energy efficient methods for transportation. How to get from point A to point B has never been more of an issue than it is today. How can we balance our travel needs and protect the environment while not adversely affecting our economy?

ENERGY USED IN BTUs*

Rail travel is more energy efficient, using less fuel per passenger mile than cars or airplanes. And that's not all. Visit Amtrak.com to learn about other changes Amtrak® has made to conserve energy.

* Figures listed refer to BTUs used per passenger mile. BTU stands for British Thermal Unit, a standard unit of energy. From the U.S. Department of Energy Transportation Energy Data Book, Edition 33-2014.

Volunteer Guides from the National Park Service through the Trails and Rails program provide commentary on local features and attractions, cultural, historic and other educational information about significant sites on select Amtrak routes around the country. While many programs are only available during the summer season, some programs are available late winter and into spring.

Check the Trails and Rails notices on select trains under “services” on selected routes. Get a unique lesson with your travel experience! Visit www.nps.gov/trailandrails for more information, and www.AmtraktoParks.com to see connections to many of our National Parks.
